Speedy Incentives from Blaise 5 Instruments

One of the popular ways to encourage respondents to complete a survey is to provide them with a monetary incentive. Blaise 5 does not have a direct way to instantly send incentives to respondents, but by leveraging existing Blaise functionality and PowerShell scripts along with a separate, specially developed system, we were able to implement "instant" incentives for a recent project. The respondent was able to receive a digital incentive within minutes of completing the survey. This paper will examine features utilized in Blaise 5, as well as a brief explanation of the accompanying scripts and other pieces involved which made this feature possible.
